CHEMISTRY IN FARMING.

The soil is that upon which the farmer spends his labor; the atmosphere, the weather he cannot control.

No plant will flourish and mature unless its roots are situated in a soil containing all the mineral elements found in the ash of the plant. The soil is the home of the plant—its birth-place and station, where it runs through all the different stages of its development, and from whence it receives its nutriment.

The fertility of a soil depends upon its fineness of particles, since the food of the plant must enter it in a state of solution.—That is, the mineral matter must be dissolved in water, and the rapidity of their solution is in direct proportion to the extent of their surface exposed. Hence the finer the particles of earth the more abundantly will the plant be supplied with the necessary elements.

The soil has the power of absorbing moisture from the atmosphere, and condensing the same in its pores, and the absorption of water-vapors determines its capacity for absorbing other vapors and gases.

The part which capillarity of the soil plays is somewhat analagous to that of a lamp—the soil is the lamp and the wick, and the water is the oil.

By the action of the sun and wind the surface is rendered dry by evaporation, and as fast as the particles of water escape in vapor their places are supplied in capillarity from the stores of moisture below; the ascending water brings along with it the soluble mineral matter of the soil, and thus the roots of the plants are situated in a stream of their appropriate food, and those particles of materials not taken up in the tissues of the plant, are brought to the surface to be washed down by succeeding rains. With a deep subsoil and good drainage, capillarity adds gravitation, and minerals brought to the surface then have a downward distribution.

It is easy to see, in a good soil well tilled, how capillarity thus acts, keeping the roots of the plant constantly immersed in a stream of mineral solution, that is now ascending, now descending, but never at rest, and how the food of the plant is thus made to circulate around the organs fitted for absorbing it.

The same causes that maintain this perpetual supply of water and food to the plants are also efficacious in constantly preparing new supplies. The materials of the soil are constantly undergoing chemical changes, whereby the silica, lime, phosphoras, potash, &c., become soluble in water and accessible to the plant.

Water, charged with carbonic acid and oxygen, is the chief source in the chemical changes. The more extensive and rapid the circulation of water in the soil, the more mineral matter will be rendered soluble in a given time, and, other things being equal, the less will the soil be dependent on manures to keep up its fertility.

Return to the soil, in the shape of manures, compensation for the rare and precious minerals taken off with the crop—plough deep, pulverize the soil well, and with thorough drainage you can depend on grain to sell, and your farms will improve in productiveness, bearing in mind that different crops draw differently upon the mineral resources, and that the rotation of crops has a tendency to fertilize the soil. For instance, clover, with its long roots, brings to the surface the rare minerals, and matures a fine crop where wheat fails to produce, and, in addition to that, there will be a residue of minerals rendered available through the chemical action of the clover sufficient to maintain a good yield of wheat or corn.—National Intelligencer.

BEE NOTES.

As June is the swarming month, and as the extent swarming can now be controlled, it is proper for some bee keepers at least to decide which they will have—an increase of colonies exclusively, surplus honey solely, or a moderate quantity of both. Bees that are multiplied to the utmost ought not to be expected to store up surplus honey, any more than the hen that produces the greatest possible number of chickens can furnish a great number of eggs. It is well to know that when we have the movable combs, we can take our choice, if the flowers yield honey at all. If it be decided that the bees shall devote all their energies to storing box honey, and give off no swarms, first, if not already done, find the queen and clip one wing. Place in front of the hive the yard heretofore described, to prevent her leaving; then place in close contact with the combs of the hive, boxes to hold at least 150 lbs. All queen cells, preparatory to swarming, must be removed once a week. The boxes should be prepared with guide comb, attached as near the entrance as practicable. If it be wished to do a little at both—increasing the stock and storing surplus honey—the management is similar. I would clip the wing of the queen in any case, and keep off queen cells until the bees are well started in the boxes, and if it is decided to have only one swarm, it is well to have it strong. Nothing is lost by waiting until the season is well advanced, if there is only room for all to work in the boxes. If there are bees enough for two good colonies at the time of division, they may be expected to finish up any number of boxes half full, in ordinary seasons.—When the time arrives for making two out one stock, take the middle of the day for it, as it is the best time. Procure an empty hive, as near like the old one as possible.—Move the old hive one foot to one side of the old stand, set the empty one the same distance the other side, take out half the frames, open the full hive, and transfer half the contents—combs, bees, and boxes—to the other, fill out with empty frames and boxes, close the hives, and stand at one side to see the returning bees enter. If one is getting the most, move it further away from the old stand, until the other seems more like home. If at last one has much the most, take out a comb or two and give to the weaker one.

This management will do when colonies are to be multiplied exclusively, unless they are divided at out the time they would be strong enough to go into the boxes. When divided as here recommended, one part of the orignal colony, of course, will be without a queen. At the time of operating, if any cells containing young queens are discovered, try to see into which part the old queen goes, and remove all from that division; leave only one in the other to hatch, unless the supernumeraries are wanted somewhere else. Should there be no such cells, two days afterward you will find several commenced in the hive without the old queen. If we wish to multiply bees to the utmost, we must bear in mind that there is loss every hour that a colony with combs is without a laying queen. An arrangement to provide laying queens for all these occasions is a good investment. In rearing queens artificially, the best success is attained by selecting brood not more than three days from the egg, and in combs that are new. If obliged to take that which is old and tough, cut off the ends of the cells with a very sharp knife, leaving them not over one-fourth of an inch in depth, and the lower one still less. Use not less than three combs and put the brood in the middle one. These combs may be 6 inches square, or of full size for hives. Put in honey to last three days. When all is ready, get a quart or less of bees—young ones, that have never been out of the hive, if possible. (When most of the old ones are out at work in the middle of the day is a good time to obtain them.) Shut them up for 48 hours, in a dark place, moderately cool. Set them out just at evening. On the 10th day some of the queens may hatch. Very often several cells are built. If you want to make the most of them, open the box or hive, whichever it may be, and carefully cut out all but one. One of these may be inserted into the combs instead of brood, for other nuclei—a gain of ten days in time. After the queen hatches, if fair weather, she may be expected to lay in eight or ten days, when she may be introduced.—M. Quinby, in American Agriculturist.

But two of the fifty-eight Companies permitted to do business in New York and Massachusetts had so large an income for the year 1868; but two had so large a number of Policies in force, but one among all those incorporated under the laws of the State of New York had so small a per centage of Expense to Income during the year 1868.

SPARKLING CATAWBA SPRINGS,

CATAWBA COUNTY, N. C.

THIS CELEBRATED WATERING PLACE, formerly called the North Carolina White Sulphur Springs, will be open for visitors on Tuesday, the first day of June next.

Being situated in the north-western part of the State in a country remarkable for its beauty and healthfulness—these, together with the virtue of the waters, make it one of the most desirable watering places to be found.

The MINERAL WATERS of these Springs are the White and Blue Sulphur and Chalybeate or Iron, and they possess all the finest qualities of those waters, and are sovereign remedies for all diseases of the liver, bowels, stomach and kidneys, eruptions of the skin, scrofula, weakness, debility dyspepsia, rheumatism, &c.

The proprietor having spent a large amount in additional buildings and improvements generally, these Springs are now in a fine condition, rooms large and pleasant, and good cottages containing from two to six rooms each, well arranged for either large or small families.

Good TEN PIN ALLEYS, BILLIARD TABLES and other amusements.

FINE BATH HOUSES, for Pool, Plunge or Shower Bath, Sulphur Bath, Hot or Cold.

A GOOD BAND OF MUSIC

Will be at the Springs the entire season, and a good Physician permanently located for the benefit of invalids, who will have every attention.

Having secured the services of Mr. J. N. CATES, of Virginia, who has had much experience and stands high as a Hotel keeper, visitors may rest assured that my table will be supplied with the best the market can afford, and everything done that will add to their pleasure and comfort.

The cars on the Western North Carolina Rail Road will leave Salisbury for Hickory Station, the Springs' depot, every morning, (Sundays excepted,) in connection with the North Carolina Railroad, avoiding stoppage for delay at Salisbury, and arrive at Hickory Station in time for breakfast, where good hacks will be in readiness to take passengers over a beautiful, well-shaded road to the springs—a distance of six miles.

ROBERT SOUTTER,

OF GRANVILLE COUNTY, realizing the importance of encouraging the growth of Wheat in this County and the farmers, knowing so well the absolute necessity of supplying themselves at an early period with "Seed Wheat" of the finest quality, ready to plant in the Fall, the undersigned takes this early method of inviting applications from farmers, for what they may require to plant next Fall, of the very "Select Seed Wheat" which he expects to deliver at moderate prices, from the crop growing now at his "Oakland Farm," near Townesville, in this County.

This Wheat was planted last Fall, with Guano, of seed selected in Baltimore with great care by my predecessor Mr. Chas. H. E. Taylor, who paid $3.25 for it there. It has had the advantage of a heavy top-dressing in spring of Colcago bone Fertilizer and is now very promising

Like the good Sorghum Seed which I have offered to the farmers of Granville I hope the orders for my "Seed Wheat" may be equally attractive, to absorb all that I can expect to spare of it.

Address me at Kittrell's Springs, or Mr. Thos. W. Taylor, at Oakland Farm.

THE SENTINEL.

JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., EDITOR.

TUESDAY, JUNE 15, 1869.

THE STATE DEBT—OUR BONDS, &c.

Within twelve months, the Legislature of this State have increased the public debt about twenty eight millions of dollars, and the bonds of the State for this sum will soon be thrown upon the market. Indeed, it is rumored that eight or nine millions dollars of bonds have already been issued since the adjournment of the Legislature.—These bonds sell for less than fifty cents to the dollar, and yet they are being issued to the amount of millions! Can any people stand this state of things? What do the people of the State mean? Are they deaf and dumb? Or are they entirely spirit broken, and have they given way to absolute despair? Do they intend to let the profligate, irresponsible men in power thus overwhelm the State with debt and then repudiate? We trust not. We trust the manhood and gallant spirit of North Carolina is not yet gone and dead. We hope "there is life in the old land yet" and that those who once gave her character and standing and reputation abroad and everywhere, for sterling integrity and honor, will come to her rescue in this hour of her calamity.

Now we undertake to say that this matter about the bonds and this increased debt, is one that ought to be looked into at once. The people need not expect those in office to do so; they are against the people and the State, they are for this increased debt and for selling these bonds at any price.—We know this by their conduct, and the people ought to go to work in their own behalf and that of the State. The people of the State without regard to party or color, ought to meet in Convention at the earliest possible day and determine what remedy may be adopted, and take such steps to save themselves and the credit and honor of the State as may be proper and lawful. Something ought to be done and that quickly. It is said that most of the appropriations are in violation of the Constitution. Let this be inquired into at once.—But who will do so? who will pay the expense of testing the matter? What one or two men are able to do so? Let the people, we repeat, irrespective of party or color, meet in Convention and see what may be done. Let them go into Convention and resolve that the honest, legitimate debt shall be paid; that the dishonest debt shall not be paid, and take steps to save the credit and honor of the people and State. Such a step, in our judgment, would do more to give credit to our bonds than any other that could be adopted now. It would show that our people are awake and thinking of their responsibility to our public creditors, and the line between the honest debt and the dishonest debt may in that way be kept before the country. This is not a matter in which a few men are concerned; every man who pays taxes and expects to live in the State and feels an interest in her prosperity and good name, is interested in it, and it is the duty of such men to look after it, no matter what his political principles may be, if he is honest and patriotic.—So let the people, not a party, talk and think about it and take action, too.

Let no one hesitate in his course in this matter on account of what may be hypocritically called the solemn action of the Legislature. There was no solemn action of the Legislature, and, especially, in regard to the appropriations made. We do not say that the whole Legislature is corrupt, we do not so believe, but we do say, and so believe and know, that a large portion of the Legislature are corrupt and exceedingly ignorant, and that illicit measures were used to secure appropriations to Railroad enterprises. We undertake to say, that the Railroad appropriations made by the present Legislature cost the State ten and hundreds of thousands of dollars, and these sums were used, in great part, to corrupt that body. We know what we say, and if any one feels himself agrieved let him sue or indict us for libel and we will make our words good in any Court of justice. We defy any man who feels himself aggrieved to give us the opportunity to prove the charge we here make.

We intend to ventilate the action of this Legislature and the irresponsible men in power, and we intend to do it with firmness and without regard to consequences, and we cannot be deterred by mobs or threats of open violence or assassination. In this we think we ought to be sustained by all good men, but we are going to do it.

CONSOLIDATION.—A meeting of the Stockholders of the Charlotte and South Carolina Railroad Company, and of the Columbia and Augusta Railroad Company, is called to be held in Columbia, S. C., on the 7th prox., to consider terms of consolidation of the two roads.

The Iowa Republican State Convention have nominated Governor Merrill for re election, Major M. M Weldon for Lieutenant Gov., and Judge Dillon for Judge of the Supreme Court.

A young man named Millard Osmore, 18 years of age, was burned to death on Friday evening, June 4, at Coffin & Nourse's flannel establishment in Newport, N. H. He was reading in bed and overturned his lamp, setting fire to the bed clothes.

Andrew Johnson had a severe attack of cholic at Gallatin, Tenn., on Monday night, and his speech had to be postponed. He was well enough the next day to appear, and made a long and vigorous address.—A very large audience was present, many being negroes.

SUPREME COURT AND THE "SOLEMN PROTEST."

The great excitement of the city is the rule of the Supreme Court upon the bar for contempt in signing the protest against their political conduct and action.

The Court met at 9 o'clock, and the case of the protestants in contempt being called, Judge Fowle arose stating that he, together with Judges Battle, Barnes, Person and Mr. W. N. H. Smith, represented the respondents. Judge Fowle was stopped by the Chief Justice who stated that no mediation of the bar would be received. Judge Fowle replied that an answer had been prepared, which was in the hands of Mr. Smith, who was not yet in Court.

The Chief Justice then ordered the following to be read:

"In the matter of B. F. Moore, Esq., Attorney, &c.—As there seems to be some misapprehension in regard to the matter, which the Court is about to vote upon, it is proper to say, the rule was made on the ground, that every member of the bar, whose name purports to be signed to the paper, referred to in the rule, did sign it and approve of its publication.

We are informed that there are about 500 members of the bar, and the Clerk reports that the names of 110 purport to be signed to the paper, one fifth of the whole number. He also reports that Willis Bagley, Esq., has filed a statement to the effect that he did not sign the paper or authorize any person to do so for him, and that he did not approve of its publication. The rule is therefore discharged as to said Willis Bagley, and it will be discharged as to all others who may file, with the Clerk, a like statement.

The Clerk further reports that 101 members of the bar had an appearance at the last term of the Court. Of these, 76 did not sign the paper. The names of 25 purport to be signed to it, one-fourth of the whole number.

For the purpose of showing that the Justices have no disposition to carry matters to an extreme, or to do more than what is, in their opinion, necessary to preserve the respect due to the Court, by its officers and to prevent its usefulness from being impaired, they can do no less, without betraying the confidence reposed in them by the people of the State. And for the sake of avoiding useless costs, the Clerk was instructed to issue copies only to Mr. Moore, Mr. Bragg, and Mr. Haywood, in the first instance, with the hope that further action in respect to others, might become unnecessary, otherwise copies will issue, and a day given to them.

The Clerk will enter this upon the record.

The matter of B. F. Moore, Esq., will now be taken up. The Clerk will send the rule and the paper referred to in it."

The case was then deferred until 11 o'clock A. M., at which time the Chief Justice said that each respondent would be required to answer severally, Mr. Moore being first called. Case continued untill 9 A. M. to morrow.

In this contest, if the bar yields, they deserve the shame and scorn of all good men. The promises of the Constitution are blasted and shrivelled up with them. The Constitution and laws will henceforth yield nothing but radical dust and political smut.

In great questions like this, involving the rights and liberties of the citizens, the bar in North Carolina have always been the leaders. In this case, if they cannot lead the people aright, the people will find other guides and other leaders who will. This question between the Bench and Bar has been settled long years ago, and settled in favor of the bar, at the cost of blood and life. It is no trial upon the bar if it be made up of courage, decision, manliness and fortitude. In such a contest, no man or set of men, should lead who are afraid to risk consequences.

We hear talk of Haywood's bread, Bragg's bread, and Moore's bread; if they be dismissed the court, let them hunger, let them perish. When the question is raised, whether the liberty or the body of the citizens shall perish, we say let the body perish, whether it be Moore's, Bragg's, Haywood's or the body of the whole bar.

THE BENCH AND THE BAR.

The Charlotte Democrat, one of the most cautious, moderate and prudently conducted papers in the State, has the following in his issue of this morning, in regard to the present difficulties between the Supreme Court Bench and the protesting members of the bar:

EXTRAORDINARY CONDUCT.—We were more mortified than surprised to learn that Chief Justice Pearson, of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, in behalf of himself and his associates, had taken advantage of his position to require the humiliation of many of the best lawyers of the State or compel them to relinquish their practice in the Supreme Court. * * * * *

As a public journalist we feel it to be our duty to speak plainly in regard to such action and condemn it.

In order to understand the matter, the reader must remember that two of the Supreme Court Judges took an active part in the late political contest in this State, and used their influence to promote the election of a particular candidate or candidates to office. Against such unusual and unbecoming conduct a large number of lawyers of the State pulished a Protest, condemning an exhibition of partizanism on the part of the Judiciary. And now Judge Pearson announces from his seat in the Supreme Court that said lawyers must apologize or be deprived of their right to practice in the Court.

Is not such action Judicial tyranny of the worst sort? How can a man be held guilty of contempt for words spoken out of Court or when the Court is not in session? Is not each individual entitled to entertain his own opinion of the conduct of public officers and express it in a fair and legitimate manner? Who will dare deny this right before the people of North Carolina?

A remonstrance against the appointment of "visible admixture" men to office, addressed to President Grant, has received 8,000 signatures in New York.

Gen. W. A. Pile, Governor of New Mexico, was rejected by Constable O'Connell, of St. Louis, on a $160 bond a few days since. Pile, don't stand well even among constables.

For the Sentinel.

PITTSBORO', N. C., June 1869.

Mr. Editor:—In looking over my Weekly Sentinel of 25th of May, I find editorial comments upon Pollard's History of the late war, "The Lost Cause."

I have never seen Mr. Pollard's Book, but suppose from notices of it, that great injustice, as an historical fact, has been done Pettigrew's Brigade, in the part it took at the battle of Gettysburg.

I feel it my bounden duty, and the duty of every surviving member of Pettigrew's Brigade, to correct any misrepresentation of its action in those fights.

It is my purpose to give you a detailed account of the part performed by that Brigade in those memorable battles, and it is not hearsay or North Carolina newspaper reports of it, but matters of fact, as an eye witness saw them.

I was Clerk in the A. A. General's office of Pettigrew's Brigade, received and compiled the reports of the different regiments composing the Brigade, was in the battles of Gettysburg, and I had as good a chance to know the part taken by and the casualties of that Brigade as any man living, hence I presume to pen the subjoined facts.

Pettigrew's Brigade was composed of 11th Regiment, Col. C. Leaventhorpe; 26th, the youthful but gallant Colonel Harry K. Burgwyn; 44th, Col. Thos. C. Singletary; 47th, Col. Gen. H. Farribault; 52nd, Col. James K. Marshall,—all North Carolinia troops and Wyatt's Virginia Battery. Our Brigade was very strong when we started from Hanover Junction on the campaign to Pennsylvania—aggregate about 5 200 men, and the troops in fine spirits. I will state, however, that the 44th Regiment was left at Hanover Junction to guard certain points and protect the rear, and by the by, a detachment of it, under command of Lt. Col. T. C. Hargrove, got into a considerable engagement, in which he, Captain Robert Bingham and others fought heroically an overwhelming force of the enemy until over powered and compelled under the butts of muskets to surrender. The conduct of these men has been seldom equalled. An account of this engagement is already familiar to the people of North Carolina. To give you a detailed account of our march from Hanover Junction to Gettysburg would be uninteresting. I will state though as a fact, that rigid orders were issued from Army Headquarters prohibiting the taking or destruction of any private property whatever by the troops after we got into the enemy's country, and dated, I think, Chambersburg, Pa. We got nothing but what was issued us through the Commissary and Quartermaster's departments. Many a rebel soldier went through that beautiful country hungry—but to my subject. On the night of 30th June, 1863, our command bivouacked within five miles of Gettysburg—4 regiments and 1 battery—aggregate effective force about 3 200 men. Early on the morning of July 1st, we were on the march to that memorable battle field. We found the enemy's pickets about a mile from town and drove them in, until we were in sight of Gettysburg. When we were confronted by the enemy in strong force, composed in part, as was known by us, of Pennsylvania Bucktails, and a brave set of men, as they proved themselves on that day.—Our Brigade was there in line of battle in the following order: On the right 52nd then 47th, 11th and 26th. Wyatt's battery was on a hill in the rear with other artillery, shelling the enemy. Gen. Pettigrew, soon learning the situation of affairs, dispatched your informant to find Gen. Heth, our Division Commander, report according and receive orders. Gen. Heth first directed that Gen. P. should hold the enemy in check, at all hazards, in case of an advance, but rode immediately to Gen. P., and, after a few moment's council, ordered "fix bayonets" and "charge," when we were in one of the hottest fights, for about two hours duration, that was ever witnessed.—The bulk of the enemy's force were confronting the 26th and 11th Regiments, on the left of our Brigade, where the heaviest fighting was done. They were three lines deep, supporting their artillery.

The grounds, over which we charged, was first a level, open field, for about three hundred yards, when we came to a deep ravine, very difficult for troops to cross, which was full of "sharp-shooters," who surrendered immediately and were sent to the rear, thence out we struck an inclined plain, open field, excepting the grounds occupied by the 26th Regiment, which was in part, if not quite all, woods, but we were soon out and in gun shot of the enemy. You will bear in mind that the enemy were playing on us all the while, with their artillery, before we got to the ravine, while our orders were not to fire. To speak of the conduct of the enemy at this time, will be but to testify to the gallantry of Pettigrew's Brigade, when we say we dislodged and drove them from the field, planted our colors upon the pavements of the streets of Gettysburg, and not a foe confronting us. What a pity, Mr. Editor, if it be not treason so to speak, we did not follow up this success.—The enemy had not then concentrated their forces.

The enemy fought us bravely. We were invading their country and carrying the war on their own soil. They stood the charge until we were in about one hundred yards of them, when they "limbered up" their artillery and got it off. Their troops did not fly in disorder and confusion when they saw this, but remained and held their ground until they saw they could hold it no longer, they then faced about and retreated in the best of order. They loaded, fronted and fired on us two different times while retreating, and were ordered the third time to front us, but their lines were so thinned they had to acknowledge their defeat and leave the field to us. Here ended the first day's fight, which was about 2 o'clock, P. M.

When Pickett's Division was, while Pettigrew's Brigade was in this fight, your informant knoweth not, don't think they had gotten to Gettysburg.

General Heth was struck by a fragment of a shell during this fight which unfitted him for duty any more on this campaign. The command of the Division then devolved on General Pettigrew, who had received a very painful wound in his hand.

Headquarters were then established. The Ambulance and Pioneer Corps were first ordered to care for the wounded and bury the dead. Orders were then issued to the different Regiments for reports of casualties. This, Mr. Editor, was a sad time,—a time never to be forgotten by me. We were victorious—the glory of the day was ours—but what a price!! Where were those gallant men who but two hours before swelled our regiment from 600 to 900 men! Where were those gallant officers, the pride of their men and an honor to their country; ask thousands of widows and orphans of North Carolina, and they will tell you that they were killed, in defence of their country, at the battle of Gettysburg. The 26th Regiment lost in this fight 599 men, the 11th over 400, the 47th and the 52nd not so heavily, as they had to defend a flank movement of the enemy's Cavalry. The exact numbers of killed and wounded were for a long time familiar to my mind but all, save the 26th, have slipped my memory. The entire command behaved most gallantly, but the main figting was done by the 26th and 11th Regiments. No set of men ever behaved better on a battle field than did Col. Burgwyn's in this fight. The colors of that Regiment were shot down thirteen different times, and as often picked up. The names of these gallant men ought to be recorded in history. The gallant young Colonel himself fell in front of his men, with his flag in hand leading his men on to victory. Capt. McCreery, Chief of Artillery of Pettigrew's Brigade, a Virginian, was also killed with the colors. It was here the generous Capt. Iredell, of your city (47th) had his left arm shivered by a solid shot, and could not survive the shock. Capt. Jno. C. McCain, of Stanly County, 52nd Regiment, than whom a more high toned gentleman never lived, was killed instantly. Maj. Ross, of 11th Regiment, nothing but a youth, a splendid officer and brave soldier, was killed. I might mention scores of officers and men equally meritorious, but I must proceed to the ending of the Gettysburg battles. In especially mentioning the conduct of the 26th Regiment, I do not wish to be considered as detracting anything from the merits of the others. Suffice it to say, Gen. Pettigrew himself expressed his gratification at the behavior of the entire Brigade.

Our command remained inactive from the close of this fight until about eight o'clock of the night of the 2nd of July, when we were ordered down on the lines in front of that memorable wall, which was about a mile to the right of the first day's engagement. Col. James K. Marshall was then in command of the Brigade, Gen. Pettigrew commanding the Division. Here we remained until next morning about 9 o'clock, when an Artillery duel between the two armies commenced, which lasted about three hours, when our side ceased and the order to "charge" was given.

Pickett's Division I think was on our right. Lanes N. C. Brigade is our rear. I know not the position of any other troops. At the order "fix bayonets" our Brigade was almost suffocated from heat, consequent from three hours lying on the ground during the artillery firing—but, Mr. Editor, they were determined to do anything man had done and to follow their brave and much loved commander. You will recollect our Brigade was then only a skeleton—but there was not a falter, they moved with the entire line of battle—charging and yelling as those only know, who have seen and heard Confederates when they were determined to carry their point. When within less than one hundred yards of that wall, about the time we thought victory was in our grasp and a peace conquered, the brave and gallant Capt. N. Colin Hughes, A. A. G. discovered our lines broken on the left, not our Brigade—and called Gen. Pettigrew's attention to it, saying the day was lost and if we went farther we would be taken prisoners—at the same time your informant called Gen. P's attention to his fine horse the "Iron Gray"—who was badly wounded and about to fall with him, Gen. P. looked down the lines with a sad melancholy look, then got off his horse, he knew we were defeated. In a few minutes the entire Confederate line was broken and I might also add the backbone of the Southern Confederacy, though I hoped for the better even in 1865, when the lines around Petersburg and Richmond were broken; but at Appomattox Court House my hopes of success were buried. Had the entire Confederate line of battle at Gettysburg been Pickett's Division the result would have been just as it was or a little more so.

Here, Mr. Editor the sad calamities of the first day's fight was repeated. Capt. Hughes received a mortal wound before getting out and died in Virginia. Col. Marshall was here killed. Major J. Q. Richardson of 52nd, was wounded and, as I have been informed, killed by the enemy while a prisoner. Capt. R. F. Little who was well known in the Legislative Halls as a member from Richmond county before the war, lost his left arm. Other casualties I might mention; but which I hope are recorded, and so I will conclude. These are facts and whether they be creditable or discreditable to Pettigrew's Brigade, I am willing as a member of it for the world to judge. I am perfectly willing and gladly accord, to Virginia all the honor she deserves for her action in the late war, but her historian cannot detract from North Carolina to add to her own praise.

Virginia produced some as great Generals as the world ever knew, but when North Carolina soldiers failed to stand Virginia Generals never put Virginia soldiers in their places.

Yours in the love of truth,

AN EX-CONFEDERATE.

P. S. Does Mr. Pollard record the fact in his book, that Gen. Heth, a Virginia General, took the colors away from the 22nd. Virginia Regiment of his old Brigade and distributed the men out in other Regiments on account of cowardice in a little fight on the Petersburg and Weldon road?

Does he tell you Pickett's Division numbered 9,000 men when the lines were broken in front of Petersburg and that he had not a corporals guard at Appomattox Court House? Pickett's Division never intended leaving Virginia, and they went home.

BEARDED WOMEN.—A beard woman was taken by the Russians at the battle of Pultowa, and presented to Peter I, 1734. Her board was one and a-half yard long. The great Margaret, governess of the Netherlands, had a long, stiff beard. Mademoiselle Bois de Cheue, born at Geneva in 1834, was exhibited in London and this country some years since. She had a strong, black beard. Such instances are rare. The female advocates of woman's rights are, as a general thing, destitute of beards.

AN INDIAN CONGRESS.—An Indian Congress is among the things talked of by representatives of the civilized Indians of the Indian Territory, now in Washington City. It is not generally known that these Indians, by attention to agricultural and industrial pursuits, have made rapid advances in civilization. They have become quite wealthy, and have flourishing towns and villages, highly cultivated fields, school houses and a college, and now they talk of a Congress of Indians, to settle the Indian question.—Colonel Parker, commissioner of Indian affairs, is said to be at the head of the movement.

A most remarkable case of conformity to hotel rules, at some personal inconvenience, is thus related by the Cleveland Plaindealer: A guest at one of our hotels, the other evening, was discovered by the proprietor rather tenderly embracing the chambermaid. The landlord rebuked him somewhat angrily, and wanted to know the reason of such conduct. "Simply obeying the rules of the house," said the guest, pointing to a card tacked to the room door. "Don't it read, 'Any neglect of servants should be reported at the office?' I don't want to be reported at the office for neglect of servants, do I?"

At the election in the Third District of Illinois, on Tuesday, for a member of Congress to fill the place of Elihu E. Washburne, Burchard, the regular Republican candidate, was elected, defeating Judge Eustace, independent Republican. There was no Democratic candidate in the field.

Mr. Borie fell and hit the floor against his nose at the recent Annapolis ball.

Mazzini smokes thirty cigars daily. At that rate he will soon be prepared to "stump" Italy, and has a precedent for the Presidency.

President Grant will arrive in Boston on Wednesday morning.

THE SENTINEL.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TUESDAY, JUNE 15, 1869.

See the advertisement of W. R. Pepper, who has bought out the Restaurant of J. P. Prairie, and if you want anything good to eat—and so on,—go there and ask for it.

CHANGE OF HOUR.—We have been contemplating for some time, making a change in the hour of publication of our Daily issue, or rather, of issuing both a morning and evening edition, to meet the wants of our friends east and west, but having heard that there is a change expected to be made soon in the schedule of the railroads, have postponed to make the change as intended. If there shall be no change in the running of the mail trains, we shall adapt our hours of publication to suit the present arrangement.

TRIAL OF REAPERS.—Our citizens will not forget, nor, we hope, fail to attend, the trial of Reapers, advertised to come off to-morrow, in the wheat-field of Moses A. Bledsoe, Esq., in the south eastern suburbs of the City. The trial will take place at 11 o'clock, A. M. A committee consisting of Messrs. W. R. Poole, A. T. Misl, Dr. R. B. Haywood, ——— Wynne and A. Sorrell, have been appointed to judge and report on the merits of the contesting reapers. The occasion cannot be otherwise than an interesting one to all connected in any way with agricultural pursuits in our State, and we hope that interest will be manifested by going to witness this novelty in our neighborhood.

THE VELOCIPEDE RACE, for a purse of $100, will come off at Selma to-morrow, and it is expected that a very large crowd will be in attendance, both to enter for a chance at the purse, and also to see what is to be seen. Let everybody go.

DELEGATES APPOINTED.—Twelve white rads and one negro met at the Court-House this afternoon and appointed forty-eight delegates to the rad Convention at Louisburg that meets soon to fill the Senatorial vacancy. More anon.

Reported for the Sentinel.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

SATURDAY, June 12, 1869.

Just after our last report closed, the discussion of "The relation of the Sunday School to the Church" was concluded. Rev. G. W. Sanderlin then addressed the Convention on the following subject: "The Good Superintendent." He contended that the good Superintendent should possess the qualifications of eminent piety, enthusiasm, administrative ability, and correct ideas as to the design of Sunday Schools. Mr. S. presented this subject earnestly and forcibly. He is a young man, but bids fair to make his mark in his denomination.

Dr. Jeter then addressed the Convention. He urged that the good Superintendent should possess executive ability and earnestness.

After a speech by Mr. W. H. Avera, the Convention adjourned, after prayer by the President.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

The Convention met and spent half an hour in devotional exercises, conducted by the Rev. C. J. Nelson. The subject, "The Oral Method of conducting Sunday Schools," was presented by Rev. W. B. Harrell, of Smithfield, President of the Convention.

He did not advocate the use of question books in the Bible. He said that his only text book was "the Bible," and showed how he conducted a Sunday School without the aid of teachers. He was listened to with great attention.

Mr. Connor followed in advocacy of the use of question books, such as are carefully prepared. He gave his opinions as to the oral method of conducting Sunday Schools.

Dr. Jeter then addressed the Convention.

Mr. R. S. Pritchard then read an essay on "The opening and closing exercises of Sunday Schools."

The following delegates then explained their method of opening and closing Sunday Schools, Messrs. Sanderlin, Palmer and Connor.

On motion the Convention adjourned. Prayer by Rev. G. W. Sanderlin.

SATURDAY NIGHT.

The Convention met in mass meeting and the exercises were conducted by the Rev. T. H. Pritchard, D. D., Pastor of the Baptist Church. The following programme was carried out:

1. Song: "Marching on."
2. Prayer: Rev. Robert Moore, of Caswell Co.
3. Address by R. W. Justice, Secretary of the S. S. Association of N. C.
4. Song: "We are coming Blessed Saviour."
5. Address: Rev. W. B. Harrell, of Johnston County.
6. Song: "Something in Heaven for Children to do."
7. Address: R. S. Pritchard, of Richmond Co.
8. Song: "Precious is the Time."
9. Address: Rev. G. C. Connor, of Georgia.
10. Singing: "The Land Beyond the River."
11. Address by Rev. J. B. Jeter.

The exercises closed with benediction.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. J. B. Jeter, D. D., of Richmond, Va., preached at the Baptist Church from Romans 8th Chap. 38 39 verse. The earnest and forcible manner in which his subject "the love of God" was presented made a deep impression on the large audience.

At 3 o'clock, P. M., the Methodist and Presbyterian Sunday Schools met with the Baptist Sunday School at the Church. The Church was crowded. The exercises of the afternoon were peculiarly adapted to the children, and consisted of singing and addresses by Rev. Messrs. Phillips, Sanderlin, Jeter and Connor.

At night the Church was again filled to hear a lecture by Rev. A. D. Phillips, who has been, for many years, a Missionary in Africa. This lecture was full of interest and at its close a collection was taken up, amounting to upwards of fifty dollars.—Thus closed the Convention, and it is to be hoped that similar Conventions will be held by the several denominations in the State, and that the people may be fully aroused to the importance of bestowing more attention upon the religious training of the young of the present generation.

Owing to a deficiency in his geographical knowledge, Wilder, the negro Postmaster at Columbia, S. C., has become confused, and is sending his mails in every conceivable direction except the right one.

STATE NEWS.

Three colored candidates were confirmed by Bishop Atkinson in Newbern, on Sunday last.—Standard.

Bishop Atkinson did no such thing. He has not visited Newbern since April.

The Standard doubtless meant Bishop Gibbons.—Jour. of Com.

ARRESTED.—A white man named Henry M. Woodcock was yesterday arrested on a capias issued by the Superior Court Clerk. He was charged with altering the mark of stock, and gave bond in the sum of $300 for his appearance for trial. He was to have been tried, we learn, on a similar charge at the last term of the Superior Court, but failed to appear.—Wilmington Journal.

A RELIC.—We saw in the possession of Mr. W. N. Bowden an old copper check excavated yesterday afternoon from the hill at "Hog's Folly," where the grading for the connection of the Wilmington, Charlotte & Rutherford Railroad is progressing. It was discovered fully twenty five feet below the surface of the earth, and seems to have been a sutler's check during the Revolutionary war. On one side it bears "27th R. C. I.; good for five cents," upon the other face, "Murdock & French, Cincinnati, O." It is curious to conjecture how it came in the place where found.—Wil. Jour.

Only one company of U. S. Troops (white) are now stationed in Goldsboro.

THE LITTLETON SECTION.—We spent an hour or two at Littleton Thursday, the abode of some of the most whole souled men we have found in Carolina, surrounded by a community of people that are displaying an energy that will tell ere many days. The foundation of improvement has been started in the putting up of a steam saw mill which has just commenced work, to which is to be attached both a grist and gin mill. The Littleton Manufacturing Company is just being properly organized, and will, if properly worked, and we doubt not it will be, become an institution profitable to itself and productive of immense value to the good people of that section. It has plenty of means at its command, has had some eight thousand acres of land already contributed towards it, and, indeed the good it may accomplish in bringing forward that country, and in arousing new energy, is incalculable. One of the objects of this Company is to run a turnpike road from Littleton to Ransom's bridge, a point some twenty miles South, which will open up a fine country, giving Littleton as its outlet. The display of much energy, with a liberal spirit displayed towards those who would come into our midst, will go farther towards recuperating our lost fortunes than anything else that can be done.—Roanoke News

PERSONAL.—We are glad to state for the information of the numerous admirers and friends of Mr. Smith that he is well and doing well in his new home in the "far West." He is in the grocery business at Bloomington, Illinois. Mr. Smith, is from this county; but, as there may be other Smiths in Bloomington, we would state the gentleman referred to is named John, sometimes called John D. for short. Well, John is a capital fellow and though lean and lank corporeally, yet full of real, genuine, whole souled wit and humor. "Long may he wave," &c.—Greensboro Patriot.

"I knew him, Horatio, a fellow of infinite jest, of most excellant fancy," and, although he never carried this Local on his back, even once, let alone a "thousand times," we have eaten salt with him at his shanty at High Point, in days ante-bellum; and, in those days, we knew of no place where, and no persons with whom, we could while away a leisure hour more pleasantly, than around at the Depot, with John D. and A. V., that is, John D. Smith and our old friend, Al. Sullivan. Those were pleasant days, John, and, although you are weighing groceries in Illinois and "we" are scratching for locals in this carpet bag ridden Capital of our native State, yet we will, in memory, often revisit the past and in fancy hold communion with many that are now scattered like leaves of autumn, and, in imagination again enjoy the fun of seeing Alonzo W. smoke the old pipe that had half a charge of gun powder in the bowl. Good luck and success to you, John, in your new field of enterprise.

Captain John Frey has been appointed special agent of the Postoffice Department for the district embracing the States of Virginia and North Carolina.

For the Sentinel.

LOUISBURG, June 5, 1869.

Editor Sentinel:—I take it for granted you are like the corps of editors generally, possessed of that enterprising public spiritedness, which prompts interest in all worthy objects, especially the education and advancement of the youth, and the enjoyment of the little folks. And, too, your paper circulates so largely in Franklin, I can reasonably suppose that this will come into the hands of some father who will feel proud to see that some one has seen and noticed how well his son has done. Besides I wish the world to know that we have good schools, under good men appreciated.

It is of Louisburg Male Academy, its exhibition and party, that I write to-day. This school is under the instruction of Mr. M. S. Davis, a man who cannot be spoken of too highly. All teachers should be held in honor in all communities, as public benefactors, and he especially deserves this of us for his untiring effort to benefit those under his charge, and for the thoroughness of his course of instruction. Mr. William King is his assistant, a young man by no means deficient in ability or fitness. With these men, this place, their charge, this school is made one worthy the confidence and patronage of the public.

Its Spring session closed with the exhibition of yesterday afternoon, postponed from the evening before, forced by the rain. I give here the names of the young men, and order of exercises:

1. Destiny of America—Chas. J. Gee, Jr.
2. Gettysburg—G. F. Littlejohn.
3. A Married Man's Soliloquy—Kenneth Yarborough.
4. Sufferings of the South—F. E. Egerton.
5. Young America—Asai Vick.
6. Our Honored Dead—R. S. White.
7. What the Stars Saw—C. E. Morse.
8. Little Orator—E. H. Davis.
9. Funeral of Henry Clay—J. A. White.
10. If You Want a Kiss, Take It—Robt. H. Davis.
11. The Color Bearer—W. R. Egerton.
12. Remedy for Sectional Hostility—Elijah Perry.
13. The Smack at School—W. H. Williams.
14. Cold Water—Herbert Barrow.
15. Katie Lee and Willie Gray—Frank Williams.
16. Our Duty to North Carolina—Benjamin Ballard.
17. Polyphemus and Ulysses—Penner Yarborough.
18. Memorial Address—R. B. Massenburg.

Messrs. Chas. Gee, Jr., and Benjamin Ballard, reflected credit upon themselves, while 5 and 9 were among others who did well. No. 10 (Robt. H. Davis) ending with "The sweetest part of love is, to want a kiss and take it," called forth loud applause and many boquets.

Music spiced each piece, furnished by our young ladies, who made good selections, appropriate and pretty. "Red, White and Blue"—vocal, by the Misses C. and "To the mast we nail our Flag"—instrumental, by Mrs. B., were peculiarly attractive.

Reports were then read, and were as follows: First, I will say, however, that 14 15 being perfect, entitled the student to "perfect" on all:

Perfect—B. W. Ballard, N. M. Ballard, R. W. Beckwith, Geo. W. Brown, Ed. H. Davis, Frank Edgerton, W. H. Furman, Jr., Chas. J. Gee Jr., Ed. C. Jones, Washington H. Mann, Elijah Perry, Jas. A. S. Timberlake, Jas. A. White, Pinner Yarbrough, Benj. B. Massenburg.

Absent from no duty—Chas. E. Morse, Cornelius Staton, Jas. S. Timberlake, Jas. A. White.

Perfect in Scholarship, Deportment and attendance—Jas. S. Timberlake, Jas. A. White.

Mr. Ed. C. Jones recited 334 recitations, all of which were perfect. I have not the pleasure of knowing him, but think this must be the result of a brilliant mind, close application and hard study.

This closed in time for supper and the party, when hours passed unnoticed, leaving only one sad thought, that they were gone, and could not come again. I have taken up too much space to say much of this, but will add only the remark, that the managers showed all attention to every want, and that the party reminded us of those of old time, when beaus and sweethearts, cupid and old Dame Pleasure, all united to make our night pleasant in our young day recollections.

D. B.

THE RICHMOND Dispatch of the 12th inst. contained a lengthy account of a proposed hostile meeting between Wm. E. Cameron of the Petersburg Index and R. W. Hughes of the State Journal, a paper published in Richmond.

Arrangements were made for the combat to take place near Chester, a villiage upon the Richmond and Petersburg Railroad, but the authorities getting wind of the affair, appeared on the ground in the nick of time and succeeded in arresting Messrs. Legarde, Rodgers and Clarkson, seconds, the principals made good their retreat. It was then thought that the belligerent gentlemen would endeavor to accomplish their purpose by coming into this State, and every exertion was made by the proper authorities to arrest the parties, but all their efforts were unavailing, as a rumor reached us yesterday afternoon that the meeting had taked place near Suffolk, Va., and resulted in Mr. Cameron receiving a severe wound in the stomach, Mr. Hughes' ear being grazed.

From what we can glean from the different accounts the difficulty originated, as the following extract from the Petersburg Index will explain:

There is an article in the Friday evening's State Journal which, in its vileness and virulence, betrays its parentage. Hell has no fury like a woman scorned, perhaps, but humanity knows no hatred so bitter, so reckless, so unrelenting as that the traitor feels towards those whom he has betrayed. None but a renegade Virginian, smarting under the sense of his own shameless treachery, and brimming with enmity to all that is better and truer than himself—an Arnold seeking to cloak his baseness by slander of the cause he has sold—could have penned such language in regard to Virginia gentlemen as that which we quote:

"It names could typify the meaning of words, the mene, mene, tekel, upharsin, which a bloody and destructive history has pronounced upon the sectional party that has so long ruled and ruined in Virginia is especially expressed in such names as Bocock, Douglass and Aylett. These are but types of the class who have gone forth to reinvoke the people to courses of treason. It is well for the cause of loyalty, reconstruction and State regeneration that a class of parricides so notorious, with the mark of Cain upon their foreheads and the guilt of Cain upon their consciences, have gone out as the champions of a discontented, remonstrant and incorrigible sectionalism. They know that the ascendancy of national ideas and loyal sentiments must consign them to fixed and branded obscurity; and in the spirit of Beelzebub, 'better to rule in hell than serve in heaven,' they are ready to drag down the Commonwealth into a deeper damnation than that in which she already writes and perishes."

There is only one journalist in this State who is at the same time sufficiently capable as a writer and utterly degraded enough in character to have indited those lines. He is one of those who lent truculent and almost inhuman bitterness to the Richmond Examiner during the war—the man upon whom John M. Daniel chiefly relied for his strongest appeals to the worst passions of our people. He sat at the feet of John B Floyd, a disciple who forgot all that was good in the lessons of his master, but seized upon the bad with the instinct of natural depravity, cultivating and developing it until he has sunk to a depth which Peter in his denial never knew. His first act after the war was to connect himself with the dirtiest of all the poisonous sheets which have disgraced Richmond since 1864—the Richmond Republic—and his undeniable versatility as a writer was there employed to brand as infamous all that he had advocated for six years previous.—Since then he has played a part which is, thank God, stranger to Virginia journalism. His venal pen has been sold to the highest bidder to bolster any and every cause whose directors were willing to buy his brains.—He has said that his articles were merchandise, and that it sufficiently remunerated he would feel warranted in arguing for poligamy. And the time came when his former friends, finding how valueless were words which the public knew were bought and sold like herrings in the market, ceased to remember his talent in the presence of his want of principle. He is now contributing editorially to the Richmond State Journal, which has lost thereby four fifths of its previous claim to respectability. The people of Virginia want no stronger evidence of unreliability in a public print than to know that its sentiments flow from the purchased pen of Robert W. Hughes.

Mr. Hughes, upon reading the above, demanded personal satisfaction under the rules of the duello, and the above results followed.

A lot of land on the southeast corner of Washington and State streets, Chicago, was sold at the rate of $3,777,77 per foot. This is the highest price ever paid for property in the metropolis.

A HEALTH.

I fill this cup to one made up
Of loveliness alone,
A woman, of her gentle sex.
The seeming paragon,
To whom the better elements
And kindly stars have given
A form so fair that, like the air,
'Tis less of earth than heaven.

Her every tone is music's own,
Like those of morning birds,
And something more than melody
Dwells ever in her words;
The coinage of her heart are they,
And from her lips each flows,
As one may see the burdened bee
Forth issue from the rose.

Affections are as thoughts to her,
The measures of her hours;
Her feelings have the fragrancy,
The freshness of young flowers;
And lovely passions, changing oft,
So fill her, she appears
The image of themselves by turns—
The idol of past years!

Of her bright face one glance will trace
A picture on the brain,
And of her voice in echoing hearts
A sound must long remain;
But memory, such as mine of hers,
So very much endears,
When death is nigh, my latest sigh
Will not be life's, but hers.

I filled this cup to one made up
Of loveliness alone,
A woman, of her gentle sex,
The seeming paragon—
Her health! and would on earth there stood
Some more of such a frame,
That life might be all poetry,
And weariness a name.

LIFE INSURANCE.

NATIONAL

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF THE

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Chartered by Special Act of Congress, Approved July 25th, 1868.

CASH CAPITAL,

$1,000,000,

PAID IN FULL.

It is no longer a question with any man, who tenderly loves his wife and children, who considers how helpless would be their condition in case of his death, as to the duty of taking out a LIFE POLICY, but as to which Company he shall pay his money.

If he reflects a moment he will conclude to patronize the Company which shows the greatest degree of vitality, which extends its business over the largest area, which is a Home Company in every locality; which furnishes insurance at the least cost; which issues no policies that are forfeitable should he be unable next year, or any subsequent year to pay his renewal; and which is undoubtedly able to meet ALL ITS PROMISES.

With these feelings and views, he looks over the newspapers, and, by the time he gets through reading the advertisements of Mutual or Mixed Companies, he finds his mind so fuddled that he is at a loss where to go or what to do. He can not comprehend one-half that is written, and concludes that none but ACTUARIES, who are familiar with the principles upon which Life Insurance is based can comprehend or explain anything about dividends and his liability for notes given in part payment of premiums. In his dilemma, he took into the plan adopted by the

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

U. S. A.,

and finds just what he wants:

An ALL-CASH PLAN, reduced to the LOWEST MINIMUM Rate, like any commodity in Market, so much Insurance for so much Money. No notes to give; no interest to pay; no anxiety about Assessments; no apprehension of his Policy being forfeited next year if he does not pay his annual Renewal; and the RATES so much LOWER than other Companies, that he realizes a larger Dividend, IN ADVANCE, than other Companies can pay him in the future.

He finds that, instead of this UNCERTAIN PROMISE, and present high rate, that the presents a certain and definite sum for a much lower rate, and puts up its paid up Capital of

NATIONAL

as a guarantee fund, that its contracts will be fulfilled, and, like thousands of others, cheerfully calls on their Agent to make his application for a Policy. Hence the unprecedented and most wonderful success of the NATIONAL as contrasted with the older and Mutual Companies.

The Company issued its first policy on the 1st of August, 1868, and up to March 1st, 1869, it had issued 8,582 policies.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.

The RALEIGH SENTINEL having passed under the Editorial management of the undersigned, it will, from the present date, be conducted by him.

It will be the zealous and fearless advocate of the CONSTITUTION of the United States, seeking to bring the people back to their ancient reverence for that immortal instrument, and to restore the policy of the country to that honored standard, as the only guarantee of National prosperity.

It will do justice to the men and measures of the present day, whenever they may merit it, but it will unsparingly lash and denounce all who set themselves up in opposition to the Federal Constitution, and hold up to the public indignation corruption and imbecility in high places.

It will ardently seek the promotion of the best interests of North Carolina,—moral, educational, material and political.

THE LATEST NEWS

From every quarter, both by mail and telegraph will be carefully collated and presented.

Full and correct market and financial reports will be given.

And, in one word, no effort will be spared to make the SENTINEL, in all respects, a reliable

CAUTION! WE desire to warn the dealers in, and consumers of Snuff generally, that since the war, certain Tobacco Manufacturers, being unable to find a market for their stuffs, felt themselves obliged to counterfeit the general appearance of our packages, and imitate our Trade Marks so that a close inspection is necessary to detect the spurious article from the genuine, and others going so far as to assert that "Lorillard's Snuff is no longer made."

In making this publication we desire to warn the public against the impositions practiced upon them, as they are the losers thereby. It will be found, upon comparison, that Lorillard's snuff is "far ahead" of all others, being made of the best stock, after an original and secret process known only to ourselves, besides possessing great age, strength and pungency, and is warranted not to contain any dangerous or deleterious substances, which cannot be said of many worthless articles put on sale by others. The best is the cheapest in the end. A circular will always be mailed on application. In ordering please specify if Salt Snuff (High Toast,) or P. cah Snuff (Extra Scotch) is desired.

NEW METHOD OF WASHING CLOTHES WITHOUT LABOR.

THE AUTOMATIC

CLOTHES WASHER AND BOILER.

THIS BOILER IS MOST EFFECTUAL, reliable and universally recommended. It can be used on any Stove or Range, in any boiler, and the low price of the article places it within the reach of every family.

This Boiler operates upon purely philosophical principles, is self-acting, and dispenses with labor and the wear of the clothes.

The hot suds and steam, by the action of heat, are driven up through tubes, poured upon the clothes, and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, rendering all effects, from the finest laces to the heaviest blankets, perfectly immaculate, as it does not rub them as in the old process of rubbing and pressing.

The time required for cleansing a boiler full of clothes is twenty to thirty minutes, and nearly three hundred gallons of boiling suds are forced through the fabric, thoroughly loosening and eradicating the dirt WITHOUT LABOR or friction.—A thorough rinsing finishes the process.

Washing day will no longer be a terror and dread to housewives. The cost of the Boiler will soon be returned in the SAVING OF TIME AND LABOR, and the great saving in the wear of clothes.

The great value of this invention appears so clear, and appeals so directly to common sense, that we have deemed it unnecessary to accompany its introduction with numerous letters of approval, &c.

So invention has met with such ready sale and given such satisfaction. Call at LOUTHE & BROTHERS, and see its wonderful operations.—We have the exclusive right to sell and manufacture in the State.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.,

HAS BEEN RE-OPENED for the accommodation of the traveling public by Mr. and Mrs. ROWE, formerly of Company Shops Hotel. Terms moderate. Transient custom solicited.

As "THE EXCHANGE" is under the direction of the skill and unsurpassed experience of one of the most accomplished caterers now to be found in the South, it is reasonable to ask for it a share of the public patronage. Call and test the fact.
